Library, market place, or lounge? In modern office environments, ways of working and communication beyond traditional workplaces are becoming more and more important. With the modular upholstered furniture colin, Wiesner-Hager has developed an armchair and sofa range that can be used in various room settings and utilization concepts. Visually, colin is characterized by curved lines. All-around upholstered arm and backrests ensure privacy in public spaces – ideal for undisturbed withdrawal and informal consultations. The generous seat ensures high comfort. The modular upholstered furniture is available as an armchair, as 1.5- or two-seater couches in three different heights, or as conference modules for 2 to 4 people. The height of the arm and backrests determines the degree of visual screening and acoustic efficiency. The modularity of colin allows a flexible integration into the organizational and spatial context of the office architecture.

Design: Claudio Di Palma

Rich in detail.

On request, single couches on castors are offered.

The table can be provided with electricity supply equipment for easy plug-and-play use.

The u-shaped conference modules can optionally be equipped with a centrally positioned table for meetings with up to four people (models 2091 and 2092).
